

CROWN HILL: HISTORY, SPIRIT, SANCTUARY

In celebration of Crown Hill's 150th anniversary, the Crown Hill Heritage Foundation and the Indiana Historical Society Press published Crown Hill: History, Spirit, Sanctuary. In June 2014, it was named a Silver Award Winner in Foreword Reviews' prestigious national IndieFab "Book of the Year" contest. Written by Douglas Wissing, Marianne Tobias, Rebecca Dolan, and Anne Ryder,

Crown Hill: History, Spirit, Sanctuary tells the story of our nation's third-largest non-government cemetery from its founding in 1863, during the Civil War. It weaves together 150 years of Crown Hill history with local and state history, creating the context that allowed Crown Hill to become the "City on the Hill"—the final resting place of many of our pioneers, civic leaders, politicians, musicians, actors, artists, automotive manufacturers and Indianapolis 500 notables, military and public safety heroes, and countless others.

This stunning 11" by 11" hardcover coffee table book includes nearly 400 pages and 650 beautiful color photographs by Marty N. Davis and Richard Fields, featuring aerial scenes, Crown Hill's natural beauty, statues, monuments, historic structures, and people.

Purchase your copy at the Crown Hill Funeral Home and Cemetery Office (700 W. 38th St.), Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m.-5:00 p.m., and Saturdays from 8:30 a.m.-2:00 p.m. Order by mail using the downloadable order form on the Crown Hill Heritage Foundation website at CrownHillFoundation.org, or by phone at 317.920.4165. #### THE BEGINNING

Indianapolis community leaders established Crown Hill Cemetery as a Rural Cemetery during the Civil War on Sept. 25, 1863. Its first 236 acres, located in the country more than three miles from downtown on the city's north side, were purchased from local farmers on Oct. 16, 1863, for $51,000. Crown Hill eventually would grow to 555 acres, including the Martin Williams farm and tree nursery with its Strawberry Hill, known today as "Crown Hill," the highest hill in Marion County at 842.2 feet.

Lucy Ann Seaton became the first burial on June 2, 1864, just one day after the cemetery's dedication. Mrs. Seaton, 33, died of consumption (tuberculosis), and her husband, a Union Army Captain, put an ad in the newspaper kindly requesting that people attend her funeral.

In Aug. 1866, the Federal government established the first of two National Cemeteries in Crown Hill, and our first annual Memorial Day Ceremony was celebrated there in May 1868. The beautiful Gothic Chapel was built next to the National Cemetery in 1875 at a cost of $38,922.25. The Crown Hill Heritage Foundation restored it in 2005 for $2.5 million. The iconic 34th St. Gothic Gate and Waiting Station were built in 1885, in time for Vice President Thomas Hendricks' funeral procession to enter through this timeless landmark.

In 1889, Crown Hill purchased land north of Maple Road (38th St.). The first burial there took place in 1935. In 1925, a 38th St. bridge/underpass was built to join the north and south sides of the cemetery. Construction of Crown Hill's three-mile brick fence began in 1914, and was completed in the late 1930s.

So many important things have happened since those early days! For a complete history of Crown Hill, pictorial and written, be sure to purchase a copy of our award-winning book, Crown Hill: History, Spirit, Sanctuary, published to celebrate our first 150 years.
